Kendallabrum

Official Yearbook of the University of Tulsa
An annual publication depicting college life in the middle of these United States. This is the story of a city college . . . meaning that there is more scope for the unlimited ideas and potentialities of the student. Secure and contented in a closely linked unit, hundreds of young people leave its doors every year better equipped for citizenship and service.

Dedication

OVER the top floor of Tyrrell Hall presides one of Tulsa's primary claims to fame. The Boston Avenue Methodist Church of Tulsa is a nationally recognized tribute to her creative powers. Because she is lending to us these years of her life in the creation of a finer thing ... a sense of proportion, a right scale of values, a vision of work well done ... in scores of young Americans, we dedicate this 1942 KENDALLABRUM with appreciation and devotion to Dr. Adah Robinson.

Foreword

DIFFERENT from other yearbooks, this KENDALL-ABRUM. It records the story of how the Rising Sun got us up an hour earlier every day even in Oklahoma . . . how life went on though the boys began to leave and cokes were rationed . . . how football reached an all-time peak in enthusiasm and T. U. played . . . and won . . . its first bowl game . . . how more and better dances were given . . . except for fluctuated and finally decreased . . . how politics hangovers in investigations of underdog political aspirants . . . how the Engineers' queen was kidnapped for one whole week . . . and how the Fine Arts building sounded the same . . . and the Engineers' building smelled the same . . . ad infinitum.

Book One

Living to Learn

THE guiding force behind young America from birth until he reaches man's estate. Not that learning is over then, but that the formal education he has been privileged to undergo usually ends with college days.

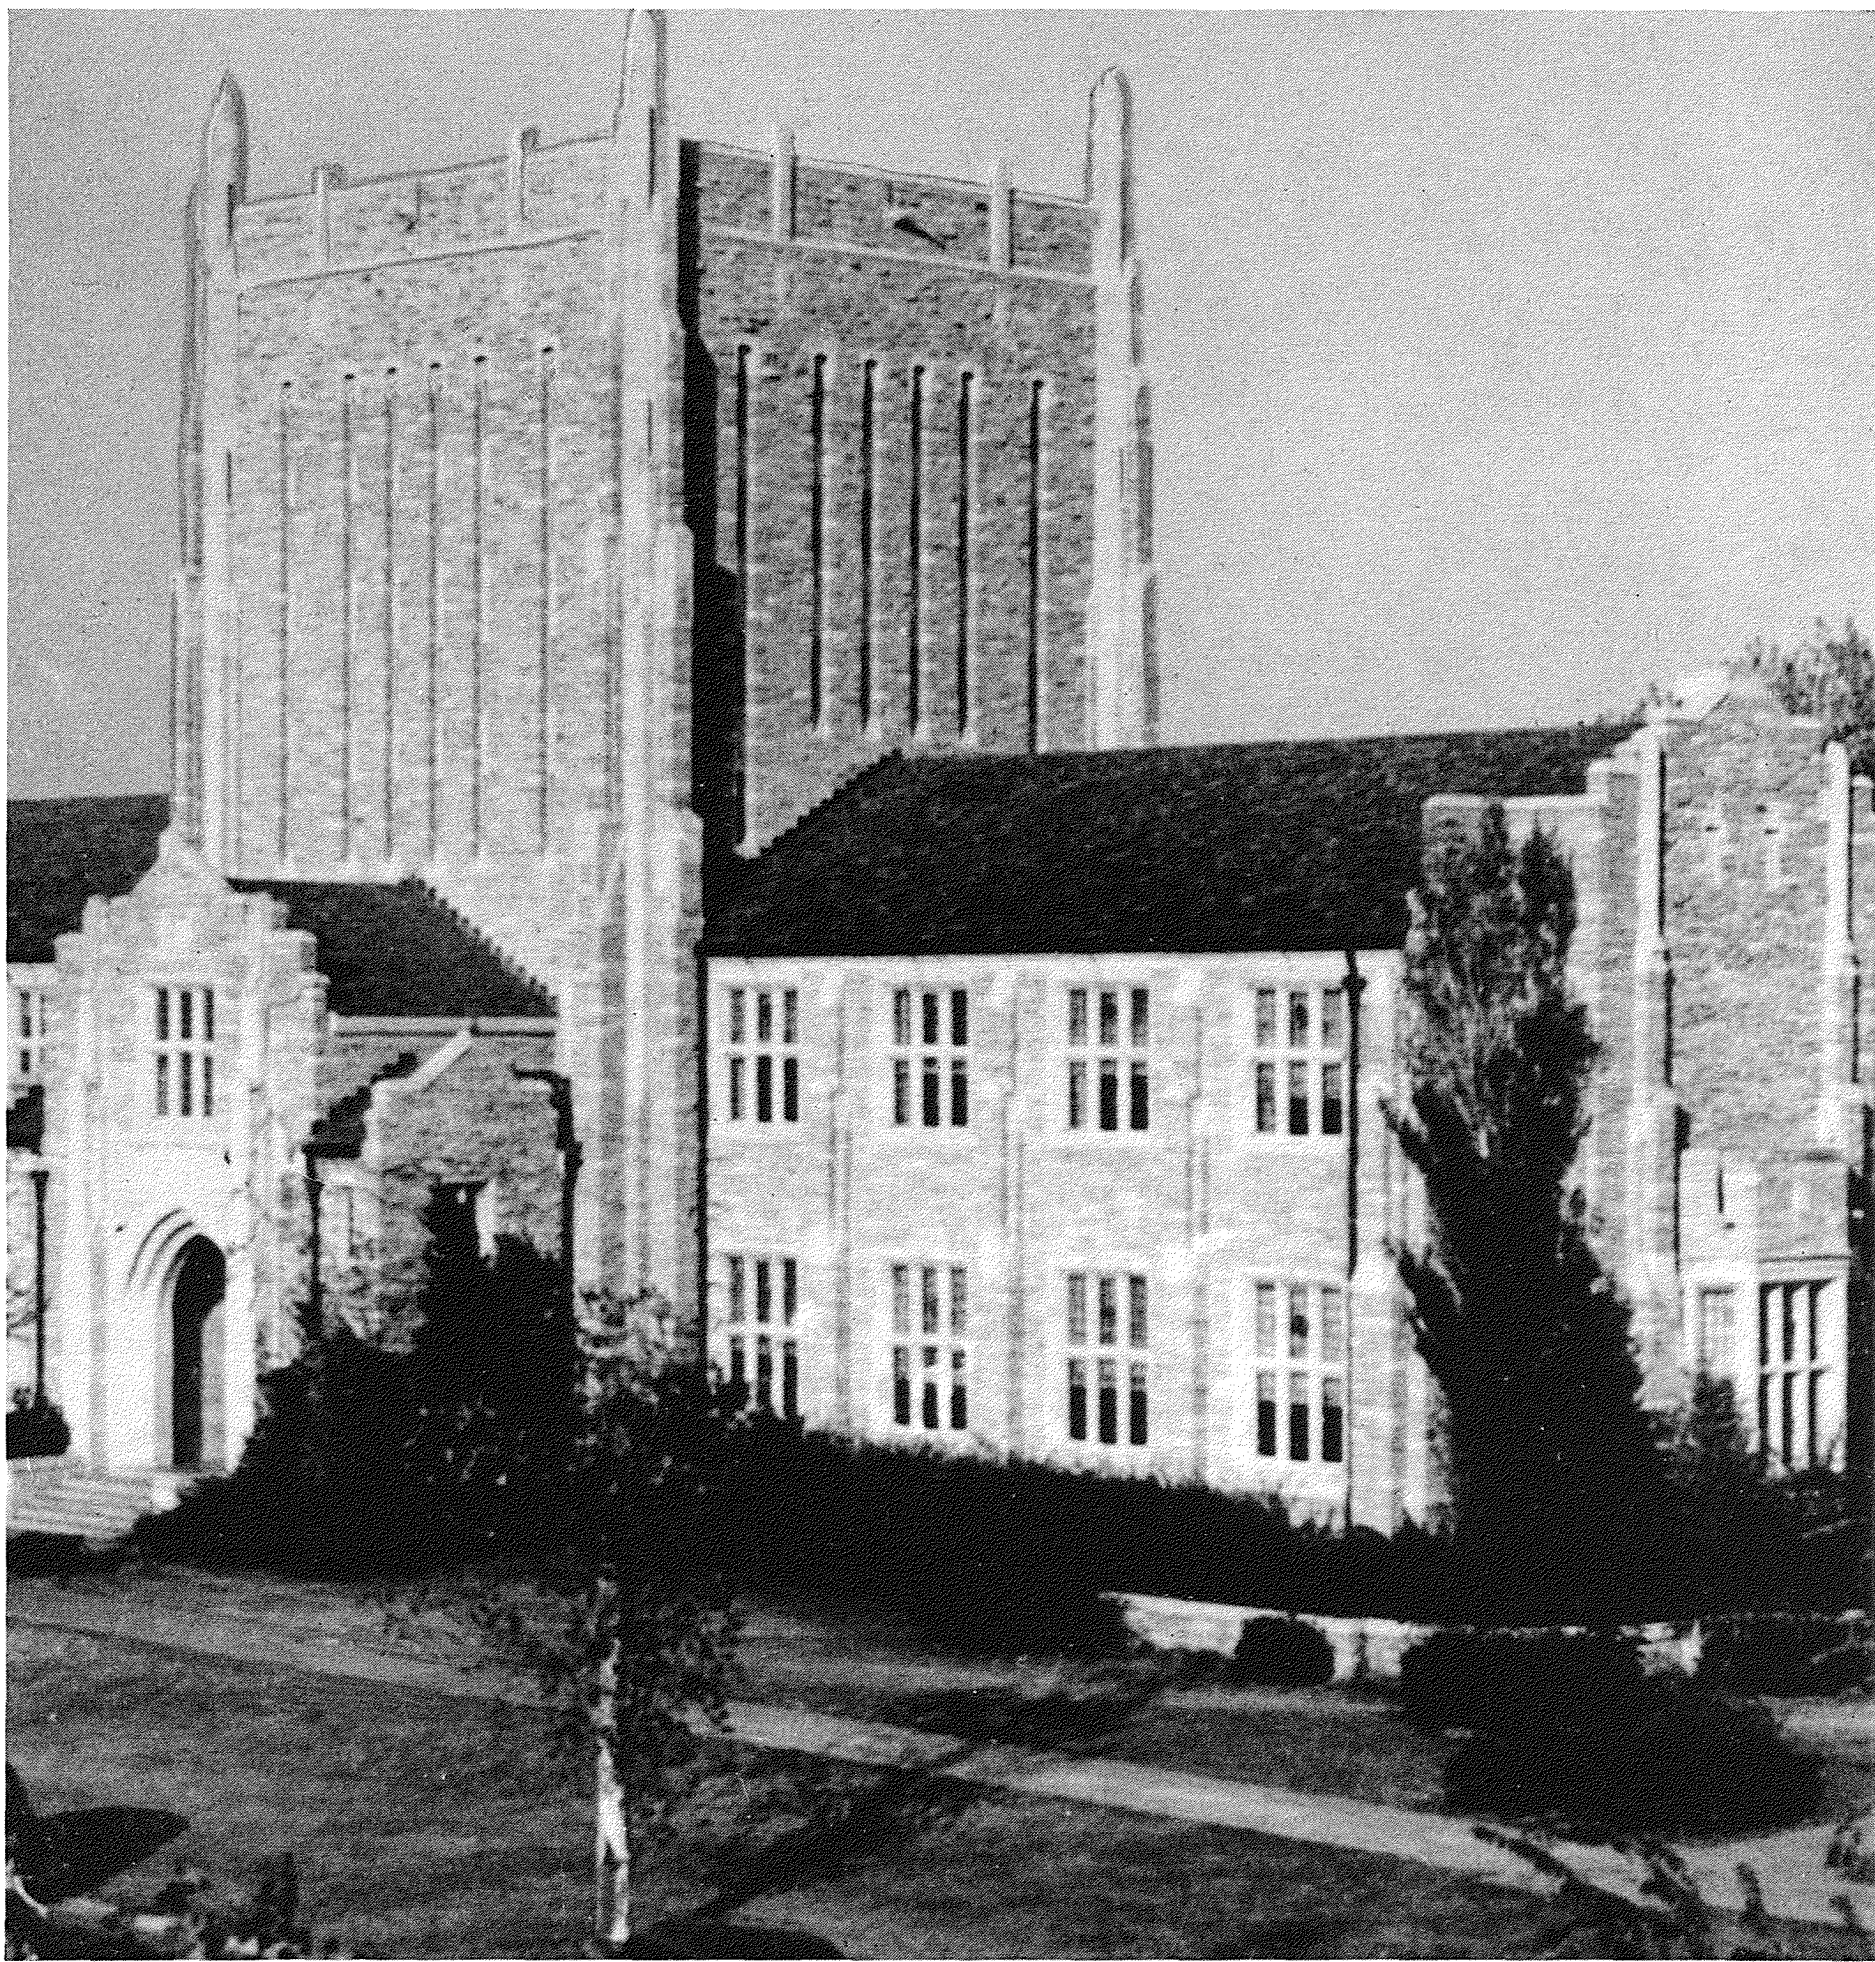

And privilege it is. Today this is realized more fully by college students than ever before. Since our form of government has been challenged, our entire pattern of existence, including in particular our educational system, is threatened with extermination.

This is one of the reasons that we fight in protest to that challenge. We believe that this particular part of our mode of existence, this living to learn, makes life infinitely more satisfactory and desirable.

We, the students, are sold on this period of intensive living to learn because we know that, in that way, we will ultimately learn to live.

THE PRESIDENT

Dr. C. I. Pontius

A FAR CRY from the stuffy college president of legend, Dr. C. I. Pontius combines scholarship with invaluable business ability, and, consequently, produces equally good results in academic conventions and in ways-and-means committee meetings.

He would like to see the completion of the Student Union building, the construction of a combination field house and auditorium, another science building, administration building, a couple of small dormitories for girls, a row of fraternity houses and a limited enrollment of 1200 to 1500 students.

Active in many varied fields of endeavor, he is one of the most dominant of civic leaders. His latest accomplishment: turning poet in the true Chamber of Commerce spirit, to eulogize Tulsa in rhyme.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATORS

C. I. Duncan

Most students find handling their own personal finances a full-time job, but C. I. Duncan, as University treasurer, holds the purse-strings for the whole school and still has time for a sense of humor. It could be because he locks his office against interruptions until his work is finished and then is ready for a good time minus qualms of conscience.

War-time car rationing won't worry him over time either, since he has been a hiking fan for years...but it may slow down the trips he loves to take.

Beryl Hancock

If she stops one minute to ask a husky football player about the chances in next week's game and in the next moment chats with the president of Phi Gamma Kappa, here's two-to-one that it is Mrs. Beryl G. Hancock. In addition to being business manager of the University, she manages to accumulate one of the longest list of friends of anyone on the campus.

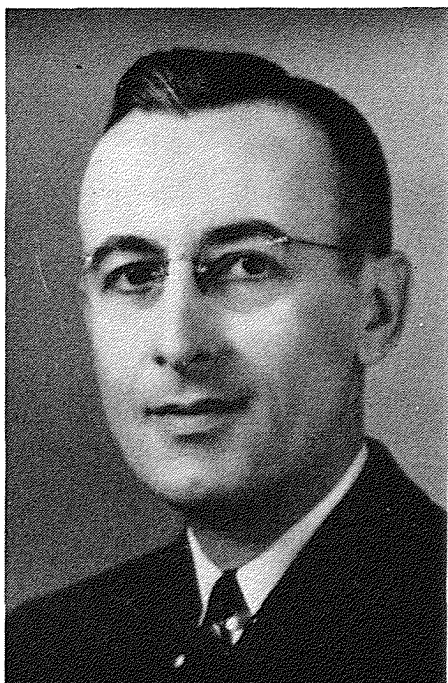

You can see how seriously she takes her official duties by watching her go from room to room turning off lights, since she, too, has a finger on the official budget.

J. E. Fellows

Dr. John "Triple Threat" Fellows usually manages to play 60 minutes in every academic game in his positions as university registrar, professor of education, and general advisor to future Mr. Chipses and Miss Bishops.

Although his fame as a Simon Legree sort of taskmaster has spread far, he this semester broke all the principles he teaches so earnestly by bribing his office force with candy to learn who uttered the cat-call when Bailkey came in for a conference.

PERSONNEL STAFF

A southern accent announcing, "Glenn Dobbs downed by the mass" in a voice behind T. U.'s "Going to College" movie . . . A rival for the strictest cinematic managing editor in his requirements for journalism classes . . . that's W. E. Morris, Jr., suh, gentleman, scholar and head of the Personnel Department at T. U.

A go-between for the students and employers-to-be, his work and patience are exemplified by the awed comment of the senior who came out of his office saying, "Gosh, and he thanked me for coming in to see him."

Mary Clay Williams

"Jill-of-all-trades," Miss Mary Clay Williams successfully munches doughnuts and joins in on "Dig for the Clam" on T. U. "Y" picnics, book reviews for Senior Staff, and keeps four sororities on speaking terms while making rush rules in Pan-Hellenic.

Long noted for serving wonderful cheese and chocolate tidbits at teas and for maintaining the student "date" book, she has this year added a new accomplishment to her list: pedaling her ultra-up-to-date bicycle to school.

H. D. Chase

Few men other than H. D. Chase, counselor to men, have the mental agility to illustrate the dissecting of a frog and to advise worried house managers how many football players can safely sleep in one room without danger to life and limb. Known primarily as "the dean," he accepts all such diversified miscellaneous tasks as a part of the day's work and proceeds with undisturbed equanimity.

A member of the faculty for a quarter of a century, his throne is a swivel chair in his office in Robertson Hall.

DEAN A. L. LUKKEN

Whatever his renown among the experts for technical perfection, tone quality, and general musicianship, genial Dean Albert Lukken is probably most set apart to non-musicians on the campus because of his ability to entice 50 students into giving up their lunch hours three times a week to sing in the A Cappella choir.

His glory shines forth just as brightly whether he's leading "Jingle Bells" at the T. U. "Y" Christmas party or urging temperamental artists to try that "C" just once more.

DEAN L. S. MCLEOD

A grown-up version of the youth who insists knowingly that there can't be a Santa Claus, Dr. L. S. McLeod delights in debunking lurid movies where the villian subdues the heroine with one glance from beneath his John L. Lewis eyebrows. As just penance, he is forced by public demand every year to demonstrate honest-to-goodness hypnotism.

He denies, however, that he mesmerizes students into enrolling in those required courses without more ado; that's simply the Dale Carnegie brand of making friends that has so firmly established his popularity as dean of the college of arts and sciences.

DEAN R. L. LANGENHEIM

Just a King Pat at heart, the dean of the Engineers, R. L. Langenheim, is as devoted to green shirts and slide rules as the most ardent engineering student. So heart-and-soul engrossed is he with the engineers that he even got an extra-short haircut during the week of the Queen-Patricia-kidnapping ruckus.

Between sessions of trigonometry and professional advice to engineers as to where to find a good oil lease to practice on in the future, he stalks about uprooting and transplanting trees and shrubbery, all for the beauty of the campus. Note his expression when he sees thumb tacks in the woodwork!

DEAN A. M. PAXSON

Whether it is because of his shining personality or his influential connections the fact remains that Dean A. M. Paxson receives more gifts than any other professor on the campus. First it was a bushel of apples from an ambitious class. Then came a can of super-pretzels from Colleague Nittinger. Most ingenious was the box of B. C. Powders from a hopeful student who heard Pax explain that he gives a test every time he has a headache.

In addition to his gift-attracting ability, he prides himself especially on his hard courses, pop quizzes, and elaborate cowboy boots.

STUDENT COUNCIL

| President . . . . .        | REX WALKER        |

| Secretary . . . . .        | DELTA LOCKEWITZ   |
| Treasurer . . . . .        | VIRGINIA KAUFMANN |
| Sergeant-at-arms . . . . . | GENE ROARK        |

Strives to further the welfare of all students, to promote cooperation between the faculty, students and administration, to regulate all University functions...its members are elected from the student body as a whole for a one-year term by the Hare plan of proportional representation .... considers problems of student interest on the campus and makes suggestions concerning them to the proper authorities.

Meets every Wednesday night in the Browsing Room of the Library...members were hosts and hostesses at a summer open-house and a showing of the school movie for prospective students...council sponsored very successful 10 cent victory dances after the night football games...the carefully nourished public address system worked this year...part of the time...attempt to revive Varsity Nite failed...a bigger and better Talahi Day was considered by the council.

Transition or change of the council itself was the topic for discussion in most of the first semester sessions...profound arguments over a revision of the by-laws gave way to a consideration of a community council...said council to be composed of representatives from both the faculty and the student body...and...it was hoped...to act with a greater degree of impartiality and cooperation.

Colonel Hoop sponsored the council...until his eventful call from Washington...and saw red when the president of the student governing body had to assist in wrapping goal posts...thought that it was beneath the council's dignity to sponsor dances...and definitely felt that the dances were a detriment to the budget...he did not hesitate to differ with Bob Scott on certain noteworthy occasions.

Dr. Bailkey was persuaded to become "Browsing Room Chaperon" after the Colonel's departure...rescued the council from its maze of by-laws and resolutions and advocated a new plan of government...during meetings he surreptitiously sneaked his pipe out even though in the sacred sanctuary of the library.

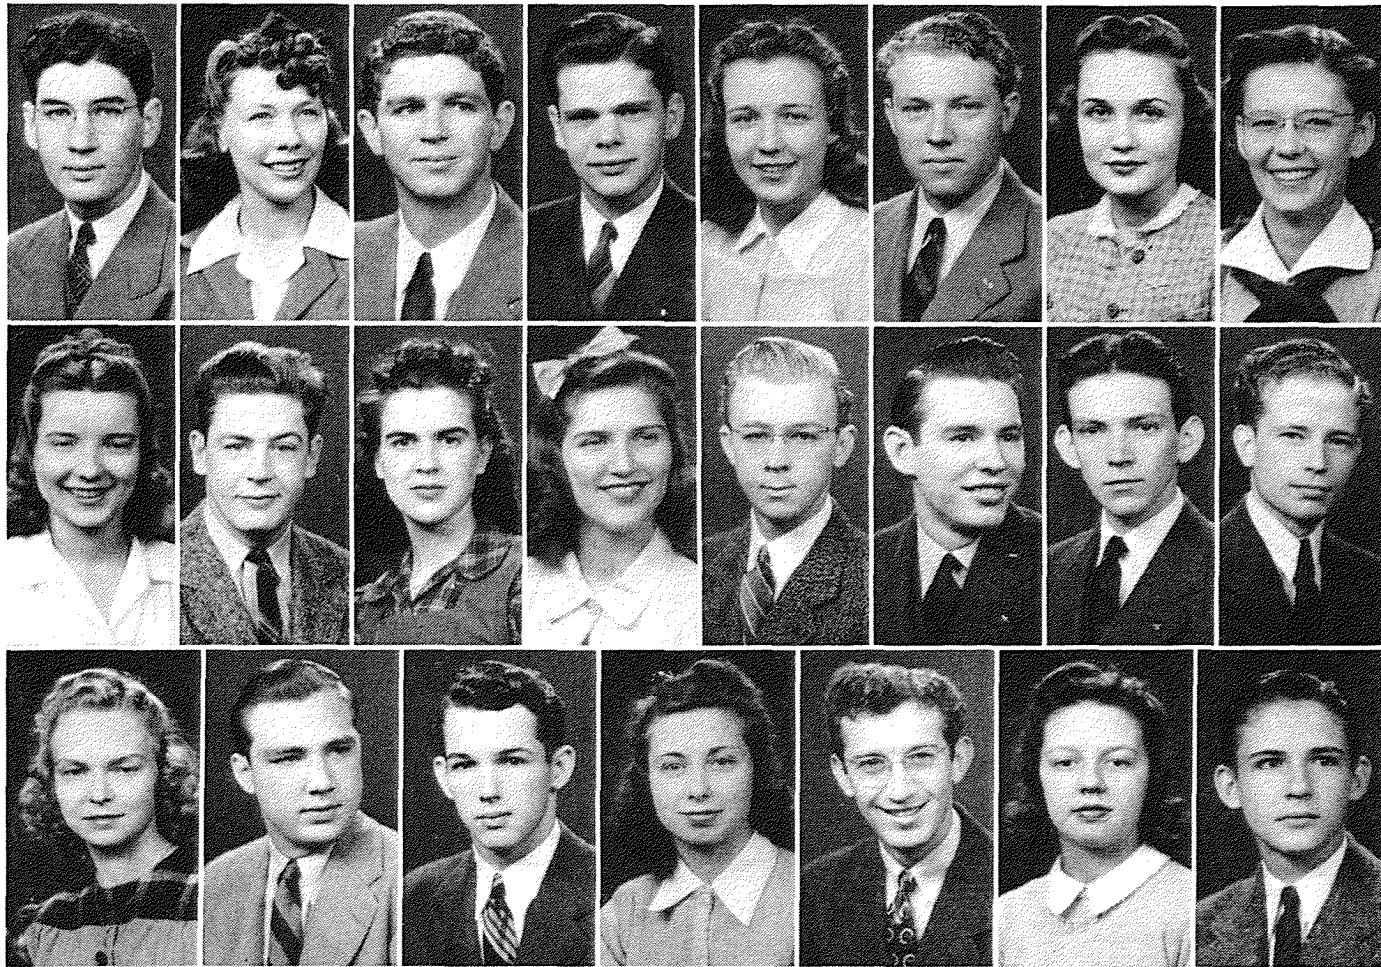

Meetings begin when President Rex calls for order...Delta Ann reads the volumes of business transacted at the previous meeting...recommendations, suggestions, motions, by-laws, and amendments descend in a deluge...resulting action is a meek suggestion to the powers that be...Virginia Kaufmann keeps tab of the money and tries to find ways to spend it wisely...everything from an all-school picnic to pencil sharpeners considered...

Members not present: Anna Margaret Kraus, Charles Spilman, Rex Walker

Don McLeod presiding as social chairman . . . and planning bigger and better parties.

Allen West wanting to start from the beginning and make the whole school over . . . a worthy resolve . . . freshman . . . Frances Hayes keeping things moving along by arguing with anyone about anything . . . just to show all the angles . . . Duncan Brown enjoying the comforts of home . . . the soft couches and his pipe . . . Richard Richards attending meetings in his tux . . . played dances after meetings . . . Gene Roark . . . brain trust . . . keeping everyone quiet by not giving anyone else a chance to talk . . . Ed Stewart spending hours on suggested improvements for the constitution . . . then they talk of a new form of government.

Everyl Snelson desperately trying to enforce Roberts Rules of Order . . . Ray Ousterhout coming to with a brain storm . . . after the question has been completely solved . . . if ever . . . by the council . . . Bob Scott's suggestions being put aside by the Colonel . . . Rebecca Thomas arriving late . . . and finding a seat by Ray Ousterhout . . . Otis Hunter calmly sitting in an arm chair, listening to everything.

Howard Alexander making everyone sit up and take notice with his flowery speech . . . Dick Shea always dressed "fit to kill" . . . Doris Bell explaining how they used to do it . . . Lucille Rowell, unbiased . . . Phyllis Cass making lengthy reports . . . Duane Burger always present and ready for work . . . Joe Blair keeping the Collegian in the council's good graces . . . Speedy Spilman making football practice the explanation for his tardiness . . . Lois Brown keeping pretty quiet . . . Anna Margaret Kraus coming often enough to know almost all of the members.

STUDENT PROMOTION COUNCIL

Members not present: Jack Mills, Mary Ellen Kesselring.

Organization presidents band together to promote favorable school publicity... led by President Harth... manage parades and stunts... have weekly suppers.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

Member not present: Colonel O. W. Hoop.

The president, secretary and sponsor of the Student Council, the director of personnel and the dean of men and the dean of women form the committee which acts on restrictions for pledging, initiation and social functions of fraternity life. It considers all student problems.

BOTH SUNDAY and school afternoons from three until five often find members "en smockes" receiving visitors to their many exhibits held in the gallery of Tyrrell Hall... unusual badges were designed by Dr. Robinson, capable sponsor... Mrs. H. C. Tyrrell and Mrs. F. L. Townsend were made patronesses... sponsored one-man water color show of alumna Joyce Schiveley... was first to show the annual Prairie Print exhibit... held a Christmas sale of student work... and a senior show in the Spring... Alpha Rho Tau maintains a student loan fund... presents annual award to the student of greatest promise... annually adds a print or painting to the University's permanent art collection... purpose is to foster the development of, interest in, and appreciation of, art... this year Sara Jane served tea after meeting... the idea met with approval and was promptly adopted... Doris and Maxine chose appropriate ware... plus a copper teakettle... Don started the mural for the stage of Tyrrell Hall... Mary Jean's stage designs won national honors... Catherine Reno, president, did outstanding work and won recognition for her superior officiating... Sylvia costumed kings and cowboys... Emily Ann returned from California... Eleanor lectured on the late Grant Wood... and Dorothy suggested... before she left to get married... that empty tin paint tubes be collected for defense.

Director ..... BEN HENNEKE

THE WORKSHOP? ... that little white building behind Kendall Hall ... a lot of people in it? ... you can say that again ... no, Gwendolyn, you don't have to know how to act to be in the workshop ... anyone possessing a sufficiently dirty pair of jeans will be put to work instantly painting scenery or manufacturing boulders out of cardboard ... what have they done? ... well, "Roadside" found the love-making of Chuck White and Marilyn Stuart keeping the minor theater-goers drooling in the balcony ... "Trojan Women" offered an imported star and an excellent performance to an appreciative audience ... Pat Jones caused a lot of excitement during dress rehearsal by swallowing a pin ... "Little Stu's" legs peeping out of Roman armor almost tore the audience apart ... June Appleby's beautiful voice was a stand-out even in the chorus ... Dan Casebeer and Frances Hayes starred in character parts in "Dover Road" ... "The Old Maid" featured Marilyn Stuart and Sylvia Kraus ... Sylvia gets universal recognition as the most talented and most faithful member of the clan ... Ben was still guardian angel and chief jailor of the Thespian crew ... Marcia Whitwell's working of the spot lights resembled that of the camera man in Hellzapoppin ... Vernon Crouch, stretched out on the floor, played dead ... Betty Wright impersonated everyone ... Natalie Busch, Kay Clarkson, Tid Gates spoke only in the "hey, kid" brogue ... and the precious coke machine was on a rigid nickel diet.

Cowboy boots, ear muffs, straw hats and blue jeans illustrate what the well dressed young coed wears to barn dances these days.

Ditzler and Busch hang on to the rail...Bill Welch, a JUNIOR in the engineering school, peers over Joe Blair's shoulder.

Vinall keeps the books while Jobe watches attentively...Cubbison is next...Sara Jane gets to the top.

Book Two

Learning to Live

THE motivating force behind ye average student's enrollment in college. Not that said student says so in so many words — for the most part, he doesn't even know it.

College, like patent medicine, is good for what ails you. Wise leaders of youth recognize that barn dances, hay rides and football games are as instructive as finding the unknown quantity in a geometric puzzle.

Campus life is happy living. It provides such a wide variety of activities that fun proves infectuous. Politics and parties eventually untangle and assume a proportionate place in the well-rounded life of the student.

Every man and girl is a major in the all-important field of "getting along with people." Almost the mythical land of opportunity, it offers the people to know, the places to go, to learn to live. Look across the page. Everybody's Doin' It!

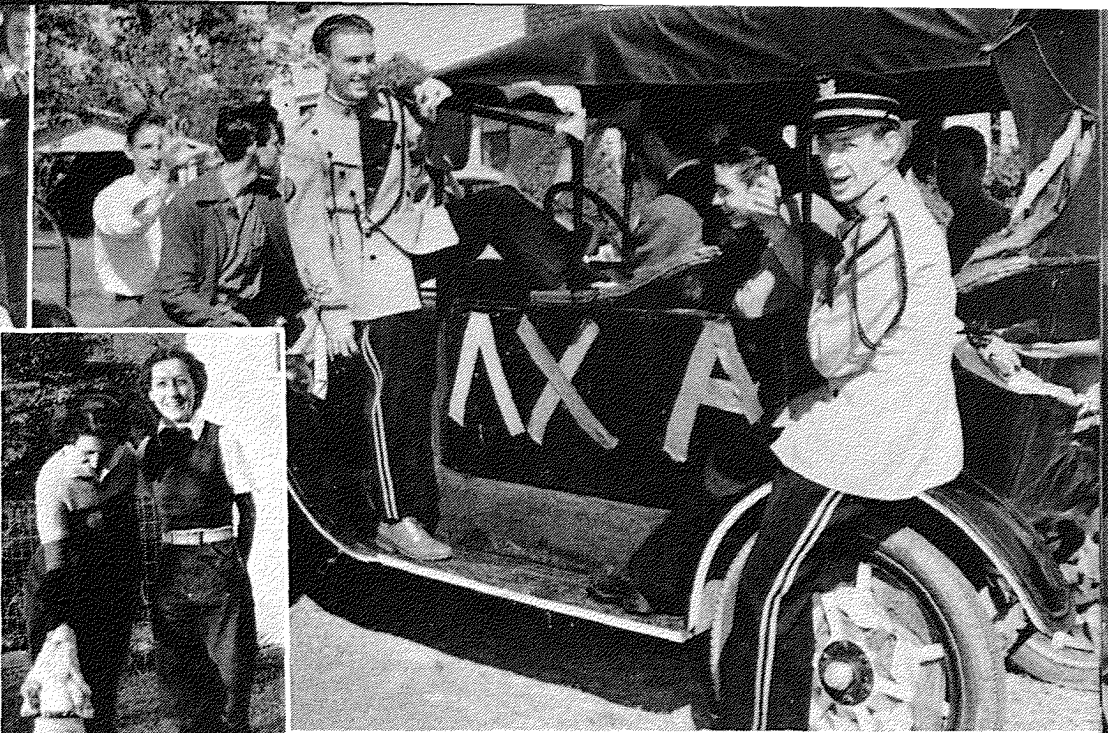

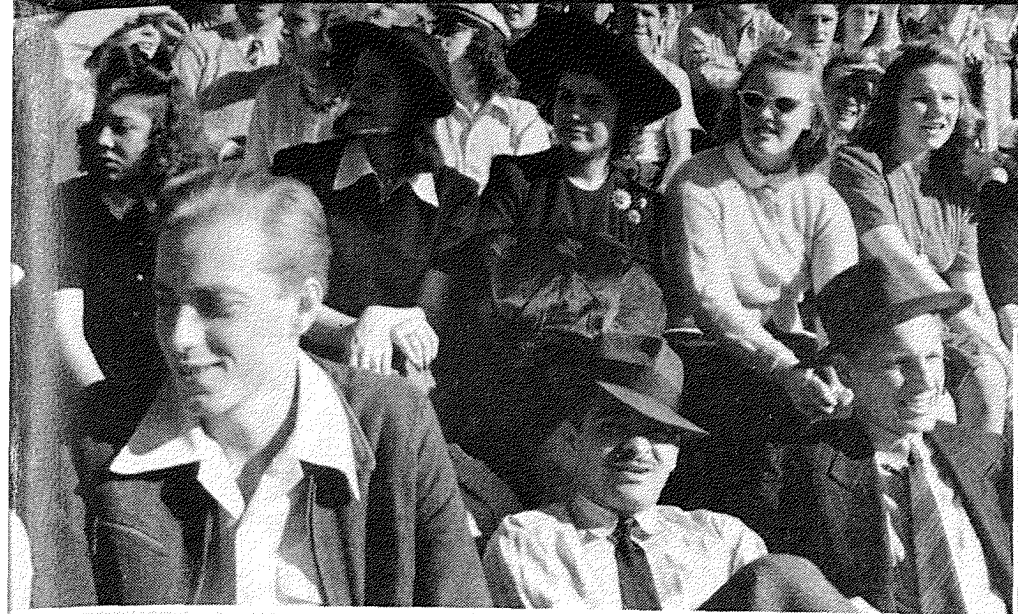

THE UNIVERSITY CAMPUS UNDER SNOW

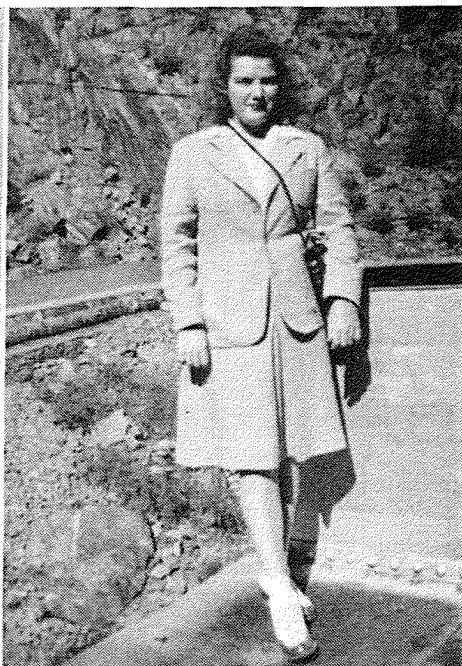

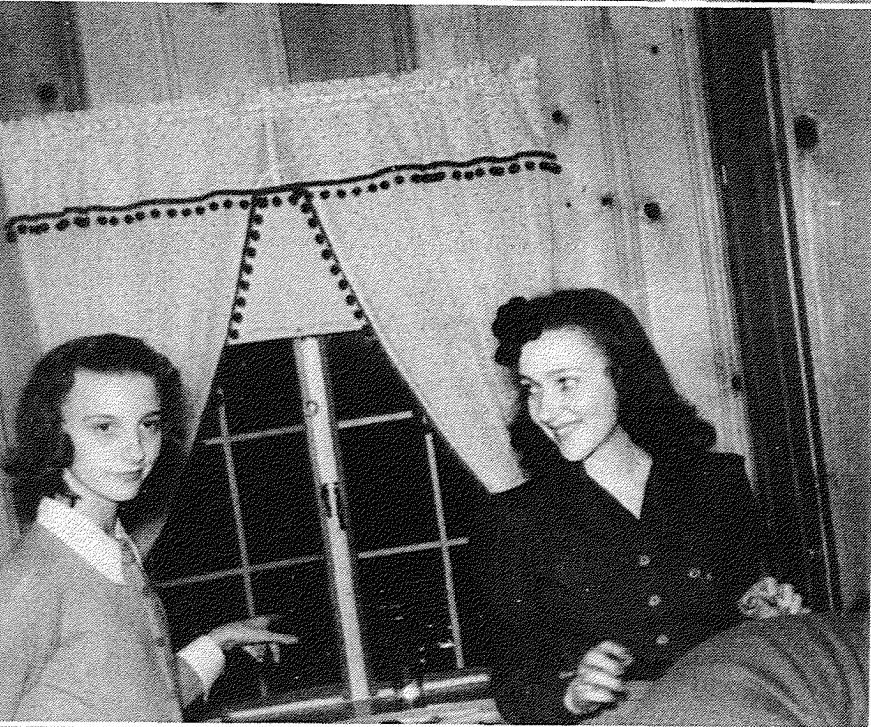

Crowd still undecided as to outcome... but anxious... Lambda Chis finish decorating their Rolls-Royce for the parade... beauties and the beast... just ask Otis... Queen Drusilla Carter receives congratulatory kiss from Jack Judd... intra-mural football "queen" Bob Perryman with attendants Peggy Houser and Delta Lockewitz... royally escorted by Ellis Hammett... O'Brien, Rash, Kerr and Neely are knock-outs... no kidding... at the Lambda Chi barn dance... bridge in the Union... and those are cokes.

FEATURES

Wrapping the goal posts...a weekly chore during football season...watch those ladders, girls...Eleanor Frame holds up a mountain...engineers gather on the library steps and talk the whole thing over.

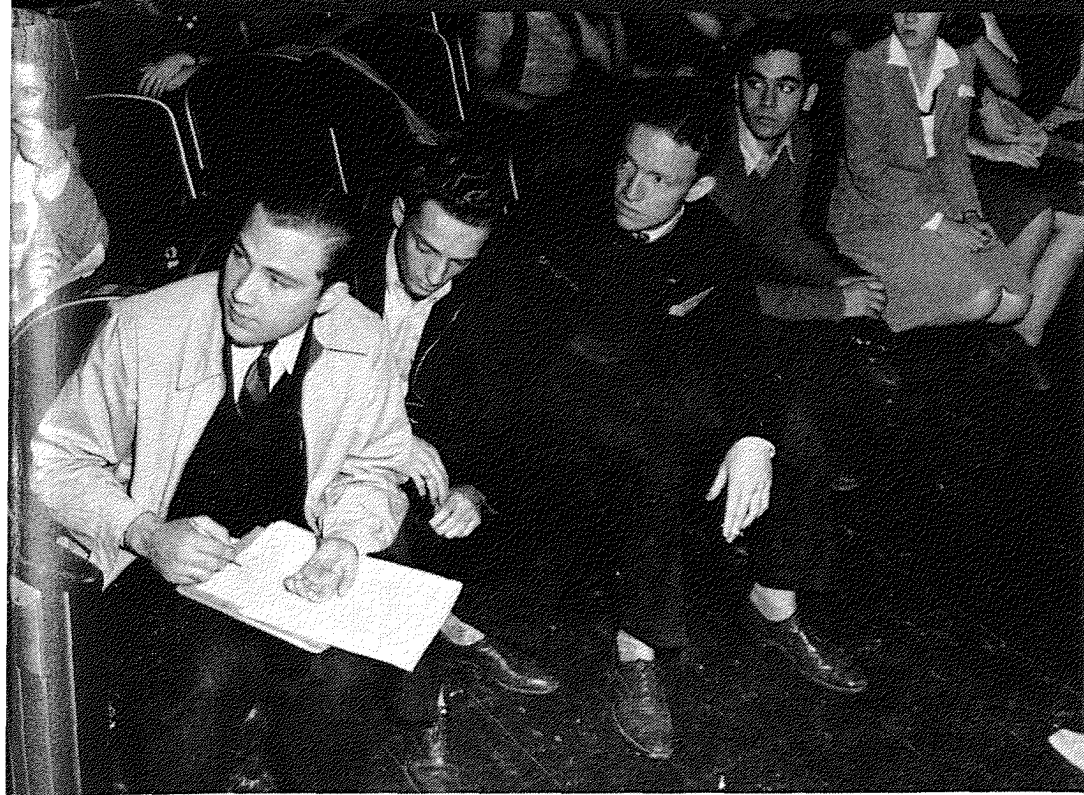

Carman thinks it's out the window...Blackman looks on...get your feet on the ground, girls...Betty Whitlow and Lois Brown all up in the air about something.

Finishing touches go on the Kappa Kappa Psi float...while Baston looks ahead, plotting his course.

Scott, Stanley, Simms and Elson look them over . . . whew-whew . . . Vinall runs a mean interference . . . but look out for those size 44 overalls . . . band queen Bette Barber and attendants Watts and Davidson cruise about town . . . Appleby is astonished, Nolan and Hall amused, Wright and York non-committal about Jo Dick . . . drum major Ross Waltzer and horn-tooters Thomas, Langley and Thomas wait for the noise to begin . . . mixin' at the mixer . . . back in the pre-sugar shortage days when they threw paper around like that.

Office staff Betty Kendall and Ruth Arnold find time to compare letters and latest gossip in the Registrar's office . . . Little "Stu" and Eleanor Frame talk it over in the Union.

The Union again . . . this time Langenheim, Bailkey and Nittinger have a piece of pie and cup of coffee with Mrs. Hancock.

The editors of the yearbooks at the universities on the four corners of the United States selected six campus beauties on a cumulative point basis. They are: Arthur Carlson, University of Maine; Edward Lang, University of Florida; Ed Smith, University of Washington; and Dona Siegler, University of California. Their general sentiments can be summed up in Edward Lang's statement: "I didn't realize that there was so much beauty in the state of Oklahoma."

HIGHEST RANKING SENIOR ENGINEER

CAMPUS

Elected To Membership In Who's Who In

HELEN ALLDREDGE, gracious president of Phi Mu sorority, should have double credit for her commendable college record since heart was in Georgia all of the time. JOHN CHRONIC was King Pat this year by virtue of his top-ranking grades in the engineering college. Although he belonged to half the organizations in school, he was an officer in all of them. BOB FORSMAN returned to T. U. in time to lead Pi K. A. for a semester. Prominent in campus activities and in his field of Engineering since his freshman cheer-leading days, he is now narrowing his interests to Mary Louise. PRISCILLA HARRY, Kappa Delta, has spent the best part of her college career "scooping" other campus reporters. It didn't interfere with lessons enough, however, to keep her from getting the Kimbrough scholarship. ELIZABETH HARTH has been leader in Delta Delta Delta since her freshman year. Active in all phases of school activities, she deserted the campus at mid-term to become a career woman.

FRANCES HAYES, Kappa Delta, transferred from Phillips last year without losing her record of all "A's" through college. As president of Senior Staff and an active member of the Workshop, she got right into the swing of things. OTIS HUNTER, Kappa Alpha, has long been an influential member of the college of Petroleum Engineering. Appropriately enough, his marriage to Charlotte Neely took place right after Engineers' Week. DELTA ANN LOCKEWITZ, newly elected Chi Omega president, is personification of the well-rounded girl. Active in most important of campus organizations, she also plays on the basketball team and wears the Pi K. A. pin of Swede Lamprich. DON McLEOD, Pi K. A., shows superior ability in the field of art and is painting the University's first mural. Vice-President of the Student Council, he is interested and active in student government. JACK MILLS, president of Lambda Chi Alpha, has had his finger in every campus pie. He has exhibited super-salesmanship by being business manager of the KENDALLABRUM for two successive years.

BIG-WIGS

American Universities And Colleges

DEWITT MOORE, Lambda Chi Alpha, consistently maintains his exceedingly high grades in the Engineering college. He occasionally gets far enough on the other side of the campus to be seen in Shakespeare class or to lend his excellent baritone voice to the A Cappella choir. R. M. PAGE, Lambda Chi Alpha, found his sense of humor a decided help while acting as president of Commerce Club. A rabid jitter-bug, Page is as much a part of this campus as the buildings. BOB SCOTT, Kappa Alpha, brought bigger and better politics to the campus. Last year he was president of S. P. C. and had a big time building bon fires. Known familiarly as the "Senator from South Carolina", Bob quieted things down tremendously when he left at mid-term. GENE ROARK, Lambda Chi Alpha, is a sure-enough B. M. O. C. President of both the Senior Class and Sword and Key, he always manages to know what is going on. Although he belongs to everything from the Student Council down, his real distinction is a high grade average in the difficult Engineering college.

KATHRYN RAINBOLT, Chi Omega, eked out membership by editing the KENDALLABRUM for two years. She claims the all-time record for being the most investigated member of the student body. FRED SHARP, Delta Sigma Xi, after a couple of years of intensive campusology, settled down and gave his attention to the Engineering college and the library staff. PATRICIA THOMPSON, Chi Omega, is known around school as a sure "A" in any class. She took her accounting so seriously that she was elected treasurer of almost every organization she belonged to this year. GUS VAN BEEK, Independent, is the bustling president of the T. U. "Y" and is manager of the debate team. A ministerial student and the constant companion of one Mary, he gets more work done than most folks try to do. REX WALKER, Independent, is president of the Student Council. He spent his year constantly waiting for his call from the Marines. A member of the group familiarly called the "Campfire Boys", he still remained the freshman girl's dream.

Football Coach

In his first year as head football coach at the University of Tulsa, Henry Frnka proved himself worthy of all advance publicity.

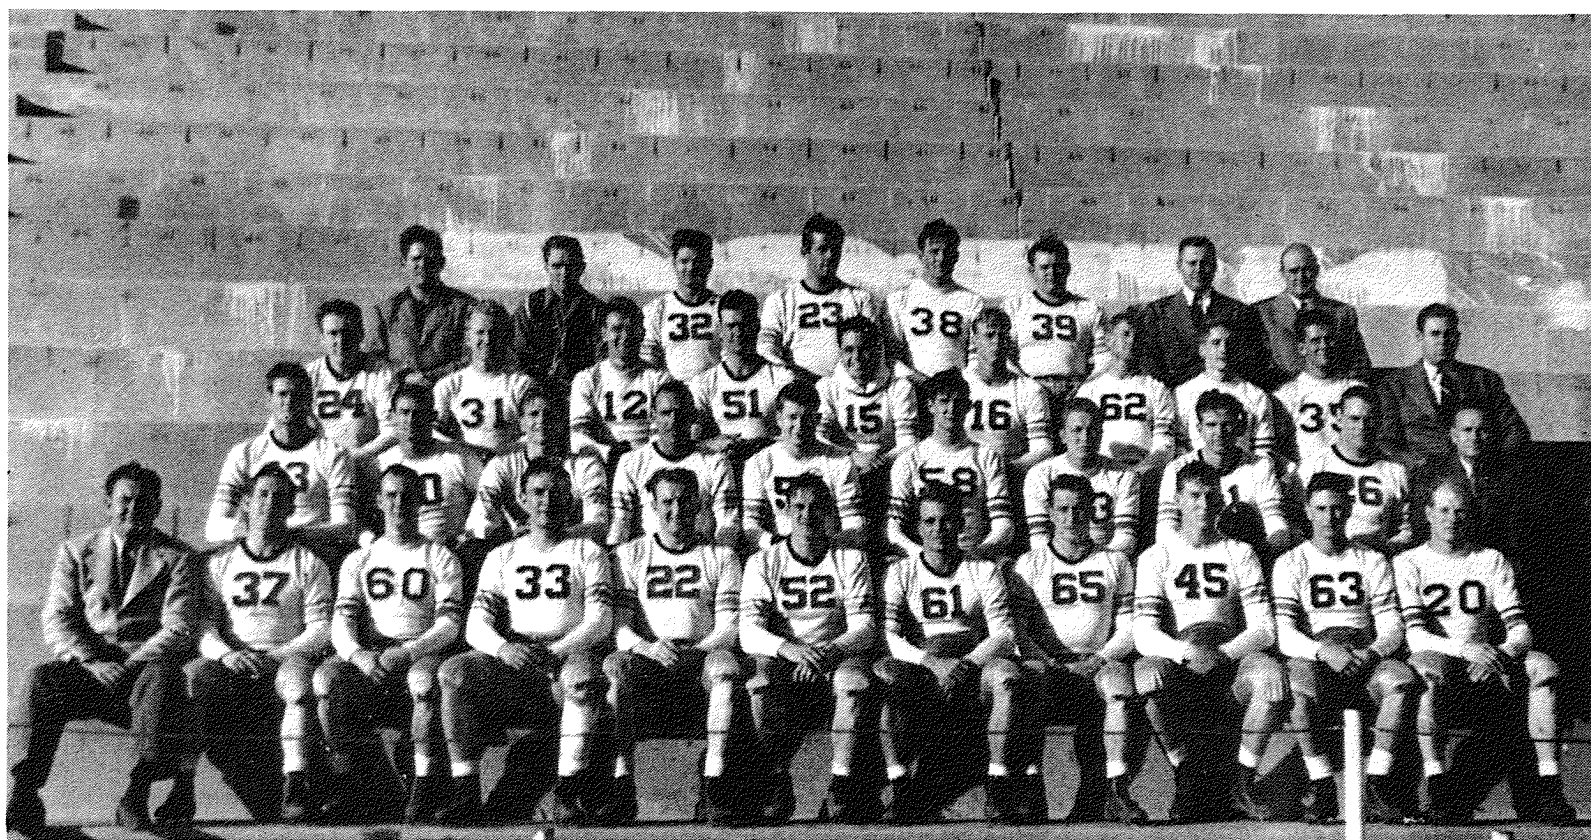

Arriving here from Temple University, Frnka distinguished himself by leading the Hurricane to another Missouri Valley championship and to a Sun Bowl victory on New Year's day.

VARSITY SQUAD

HAPPY are the boys in the picture above, for the picture was taken in El Paso, Texas, where the Hurricane squad played its first bowl game . . . and won. A Missouri Valley Conference victory had made the season a successful one before the bid to the bowl game ever arrived. Everyone from big Glenn Henicle to little N. A. Keithley was "on the beam."

Football spirit and interest in the team neared sentiment on the campus at the University of Tulsa this year. More attention was paid to football and its players than had been for years previously. Success helped, of course. A triumphant team tramping off the field looks better to almost any grandstand.

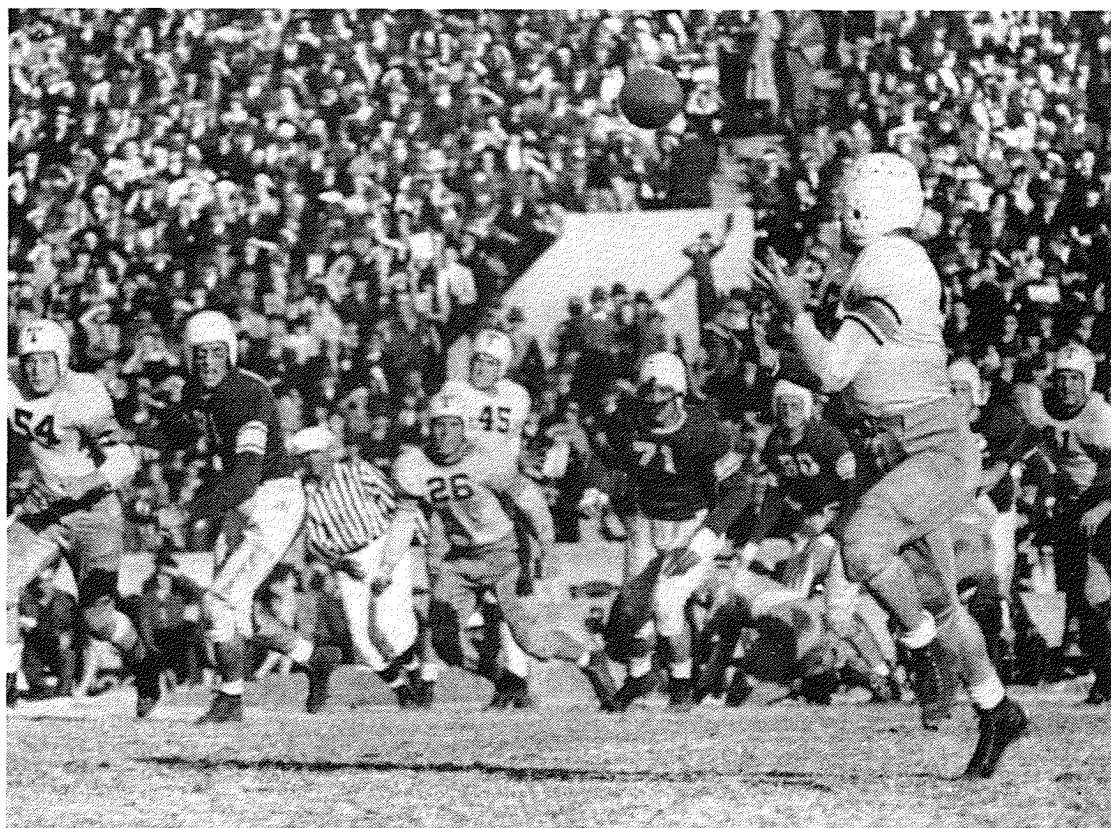

Another factor was the universal popularity of the individual members of the team. As a whole, the boys were more interested and active in campus life than they had been in years previously. The marriage of star Glenn Dobbs to June Manchester was news on the sports as well as the society page. "Porky" Purdin was the president of the Pi K. As. The comedy team of J. Judd and Speedy Spilman was a welcome and frequent sight about the campus. Jack's promotion of a hair-pullin' fight between the Chi Omegas and the Tri Delts lasted the whole year through.

Malcolm Strow jitter-bugged in the Union without missing a day. Kenny Gibson put out his pin, while brother Joe became a father. Most sadly missed was little Jimmy Vickers, who left for the army shortly after the season. "Hots" Morgan and Wayne Lee Rose had another big year squiring the girls. "Tears" Campbell graduated from the difficult Engineering school in March.

The important thing is that all of the boys were making a place for themselves outside of the football world. Good boys and good players are a winning combination.

HOPES for an undefeated season under Coach Henry Frnka's regime received a jolt when the Golden Hurricane journeyed to Fort Worth and suffered a 0-6 set-back at the hands of Texas Christian University. Probably the most important factor in the game was the wind. Several long passes which seemed certain touch-downs were caught by the wind and dropped short. The deciding factor came when a high Tulsa punt was blown backward and recovered by T.C.U. on the Hurricane 10-yard line from which Kyle Gillespie, Frog quarterback, punched across for the winning score.

Tulsa rested a week, then striking viciously and swiftly, defeated Creighton University, 19-7, scoring twice before the Bluejays threatened. Outstanding thrills of the game were Tom Dineen's 96-yard return of a kick-off to the Tulsa one-yard line, and the tackle there by Jimmy Vickers, who caught the Jay speedster after Dineen had a 15-yard start.

Continuing to roll over hapless Missouri Valley opponents, the Hurricane slaughtered the St. Louis University Billikins, 33-7, with Frnka's reserves playing more than one-half of the game. St. Louis' only score resulted from a blocked punt which was recovered in the end zone. L. D. Moore smashed the Bill line repeatedly, at one time going 40 yards through center to score.

Followed by the band and a majority of the student body, the team invaded Stillwater to meet the traditional rivals, the Oklahoma A. & M. College Cowboys. After one touchdown pass had been dropped, Glenn Dobbs fired two scoring passes, one to Jim Vickers, the other to Elston Campbell. Later, an Aggie back was trapped in the mud for a safety, leaving Tulsa on the consoling end of the 16-0 count.

For the second successive week, Tulsa played away from home, engaging the Wichita University Shockers in a supposed "breather" game. Caught on a muddy field, the Hurricane eked out a 13-7 win on a last-minute pass from Glenn Dobbs to Elston Campbell. The Shockers played an inspired game before a homecoming crowd hoping a victory might give them a bid for membership in the Missouri Valley conference.

*A*N UNKNOWN quantity in the form of North Dakota State University was the next opponent on Skelly Field. Lack of advance publicity had Tulsa fans uncertain, but this uncertainty was short-lived. The home team struck swiftly and repeatedly, using every man on the squad, to roll up 61 points. North Dakota counted their only touchdown on a 45-yard "prayer" pass.

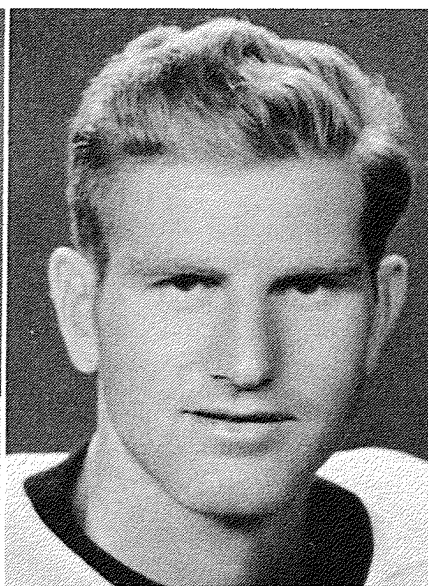

Staging one of the greatest rallies seen on Tulsa turf, little N. A. Keithley sparked two Tulsa drives in the final period to lead the way to a thrilling 20-13 win over Baylor University in the Homecoming game. This was sweet revenge to Tulsa fans who had made the trip to Waco the year before, only to see the underdog Baylor team shellac the Hurricane. Tulsa's first score came just before the half; two touchdown passes had been dropped when, on the third down, Glenn Dobbs dropped back, faked a pass, then drove through center to go 51 yards for the counter.

Drizzling rain, which turned to snow early in the game, limited spectators to a miserable few as the Hurricane blew over Drake University, 20-6. Drake scored their only counter on a basket-ball play; the Bulldogs tossed a 19-yard pass which was batted down into the arms of a diving Drake receiver behind the goal line. All Tulsa scores came on power plays from inside the Drake five-yard line.

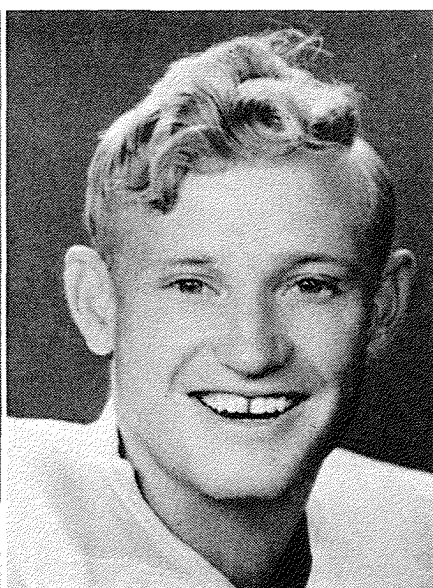

Thanksgiving day found the Frnka-men battling the old jinx, the Arkansas University Razorbacks. After playing on even terms through most of the first half, disaster struck Tulsa swiftly. The Razorbacks blocked Cal Purdin's punt on the 50-yard line and recovered on the Tulsa four-yard line. Tulsa made a determined stand, but on fourth down, Forte plunged over from the four to give the Hogs a lead which they never relinquished. The second Arkansas tally was made when Sallings squirmed away, after thrice being trapped, and raced 34 yards. Tulsa's lone touchdown came following this on a one-yard quarterback sneak by Joe Gibson, the only tally for the season by the Hurricane blocking ace.

ACCEPTING a bid to play in the Sun Bowl New Year's day, the Hurricane squad travelled to El Paso, Texas, to meet a talented Texas Tech team which boasted the "fastest back-field in the southwest". Tulsa hadn't worked out after Thanksgiving, had suffered a severe Flu epidemic, and climaxed everything with an unavoidable but none-the-less miserable train ride. The game couldn't be described adequately in 2,000 words, but it's sufficient to say that every Tulsan played heads-up and crushing football. Hurricane victory came 90 seconds before the final gun, when Saxon Judd caught a pass from Glenn Dobbs and exploded from four tacklers to score from 19 yards out. Try-for-point was missed, but no one noticed. The Hurricane had won its first bowl game, 6-0.

Trips to Jaurez, Mexico, and Carlsbad Caverns almost faded into obscurity a month later when 600 Tulsa football fans gathered for the Victory Banquet in the Mayo Crystal ballroom to pay homage to Tulsa's "greatest team". The gigantic Sun Bowl and the Missouri Valley conference trophies were presented to the University, and each letterman was presented with a wrist watch bearing Sun Bowl and Valley crests. Gold footballs, diamond-studded, were given to Joe Gibson, Bob Dobbs and Roy Stuart, elected by players and coaches as the outstanding and most unselfish performers, while Joe Gibson, Wayne Holt and C. H. Greene were announced as elected honorary tri-captains. Climax of the affair was a showing of color movies of the Sun Bowl battle, and 600 fans voiced the opinion of the nation. Tulsa had enjoyed a successful season.

School spirit reached a new high under the influence of a team whose members were clean sportsmen and campus leaders as well as a winning combination. Pride in team and a unity of spirit extended from the lowliest freshman to civic leaders. Sun, rain, snow and sleet — all found many spectators to see a good game well-played.

FEATURING one of the most sparkling groups of backfield men ever to enroll as freshmen at the University of Tulsa, Coach Tex Ryon's Golden Gales rolled to two decisive victories in three games, losing only to the Oklahoma A. and M. freshmen 13-7.

High spot of the frosh season was the 34-6 trouncing administered to the yearlings from Arkansas University. Students held high hopes that this was indicative of a victory next year for the T. U. Varsity squad in the traditional Thanksgiving game.

In the season opener, Miami Junior College went down before Ryon's men 20-0. At this game Frosh Football Queen Josephine Dick was crowned by Jerry D'Arcy, Captain, after a strenuous election which turned Wayne Pitcock and a few of the other boys into ardent politicians.

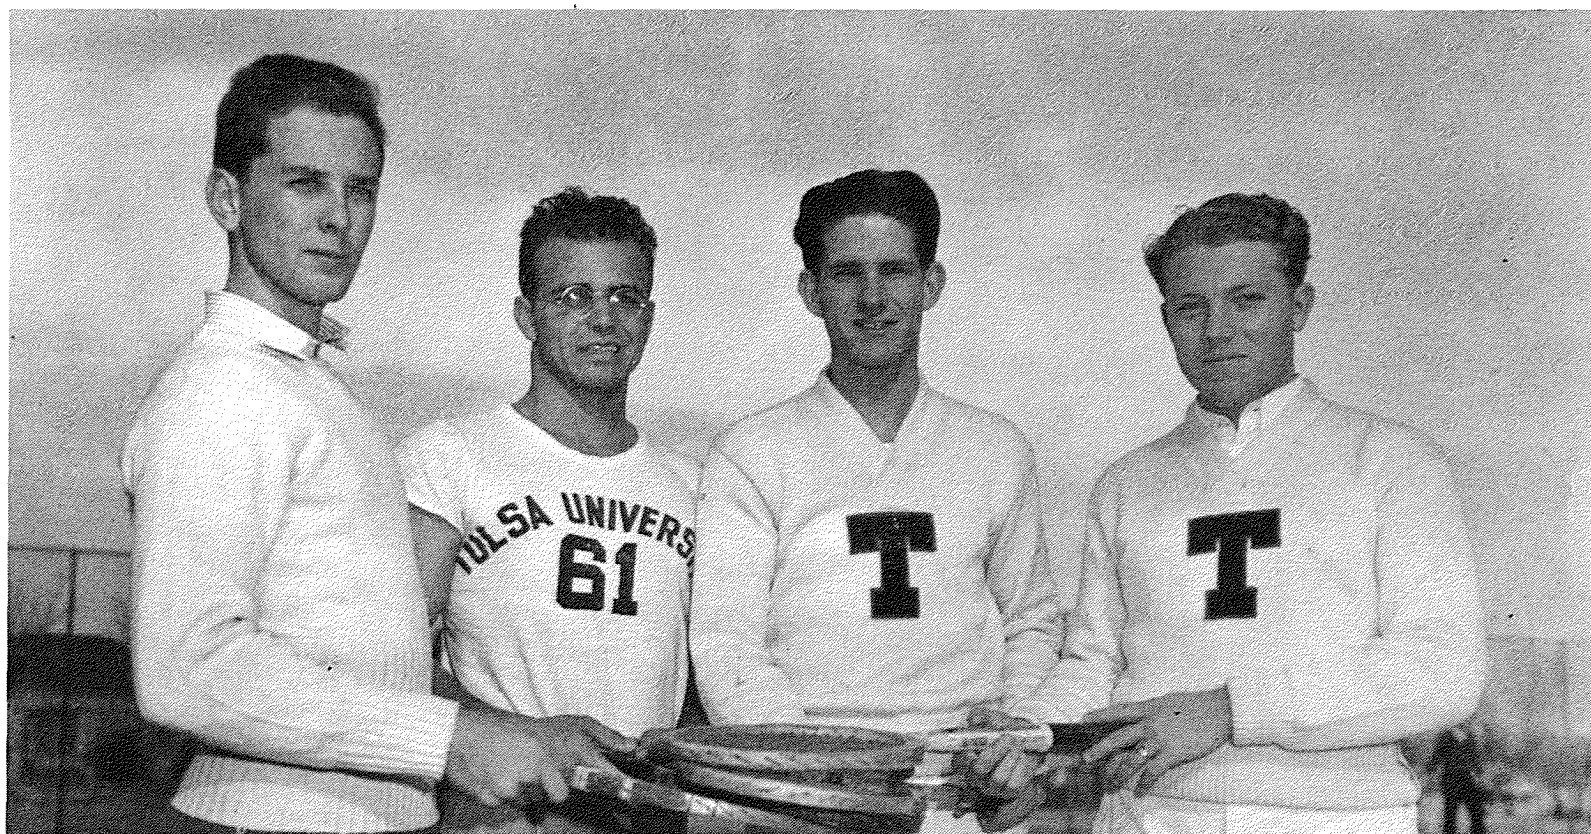

Two members of the squad, Enid, Oklahoma's Elmer Simmons and the "Bristow Flash," Clyde Leforce, proved handy with brain as well as brawn. Both men turned in straight "A" performances in their classes as well as having starring roles on the gridiron. When Spring came, Elmer even found time to get a girl.

Many of the boys went truly athletic and found a spot on the freshman basketball team too. Wheeler Gayton, lanky Gordon Hall-ite, was captain of that crew. Chief among the boys who went social was Kirby Rider, the "brown-eyed bomb."

Standout linesmen were Nelson Greene, brother of varsity lineman C. H. Greene, giant center Jerry D'Arcy, and Estill Edwards at an end.

BASKETBALL

UNABLE to start practice until the football team returned triumphantly from the Sun Bowl early in January, the Golden Hurricane cage team was never able to make up the head start other schools had gained on them. Nine members of the 12-man basketball squad made the trip to El Paso, leaving only Don Phillips, Billy King and Co-captain Paul Marks to putter about an empty gymnasium.

Although the Hurricane won only three games in playing a sixteen-game schedule, the record, on closer examination, appears much better than such a statement would show. Six of these games were with three of the nation's top teams—University of Arkansas, Oklahoma A. and M. College and Creighton University—and Tulsa turned in creditable performances against the first two.

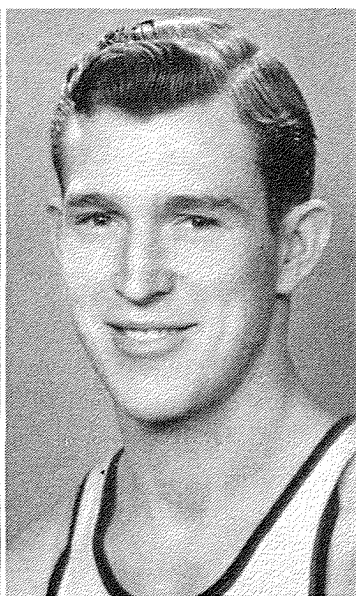

Creighton's touted Bluejays found the Hurricane surprisingly tough when they invaded the local court, escaping with a 40-30 victory, and Hank Iba's Aggies trimmed Ryon's five, 38-25, despite a late flurry of baskets by the Hurricane sharpshooters. Tulsa lost two games in December before they held an official practice and then dropped a 21-37 decision to Springfield (Mo.) Teachers after one workout. The team had managed to squeeze in one practice after returning from the Sun Bowl.

The Ryon-men opened their drive for a Missouri Valley pennant on the home court and the fans were rewarded with a 50-35 victory over Drake. The win over Drake took place January 10 and then both fans and players thirsted for victory until February 2 when the St. Louis University Billikens fell before the Hurricane, 32-28.

The other Hurricane triumph was scored on the last road trip of the season. With big Paul Marks ringing the cash register for 17 points, the Tulsans downed Drake for the second time, 43-34. Guard Calvin (Porky Lou) Purdin finally began hitting his one-handed shots at Omaha in the final game with Creighton, but the league co-champions hit much more often and Tulsa dropped a 23-54 decision.

Potentially, Tulsa had a championship team this year. Plenty of height, experience and everything necessary for a top-flight club was available, but they just couldn't get going after the late start.

ORGANIZED over three years ago . . . The T. U. Pan-Hellenic was modeled after the National Pan-Hellenic congress . . . with each sorority on the campus sending two delegates . . . sponsored by Mary Clay Williams . . . counselor to women . . . group promotes and maintains cooperation among sororities . . . activities are many and varied . . . entertained members of O. Beginning in the spring . . . meeting after meeting was spent on the rush rules . . . with the ultimate goal . . . of simpler and less expensive rush seasons . . . irregular meetings during the summer were also occupied with work on the rules and regulations of summer rush . . . Marked progress noted with last year's rules in effect . . . at the opening of school . . . the annual Freshman Mixer was combined with the Pan-Hellenic party . . . where new students are welcomed and rush rules are explained to them . . . President Betty Mason had a bad time . . . trying to impress the happy . . . but bewildered . . . newcomers with the intricacies of formal rush . . . the mad scramble of said formal rush week . . . with a court of honor being held daily . . . pledging . . . and the girls thought they could relax.

But no . . . work began instantly on the annual Pan-Hellenic Ball . . . by far the biggest . . . and most formal dance of the year . . . dance was complete with a silver and white color scheme, illuminated sorority pins, and the wonderful music of Ernie Fields . . . who . . . incidentally . . . played the "hottest" numbers of the evening for the sweetheart dance . . . girls looked sophisticated in new winter formals . . . boys looked stiff and handsome in tuxes . . . the two soldiers there in uniform feeling very conspicuous . . . and receiving many admiring glances from the coeds.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

 LEFT TO RIGHT: Helen Alldredge, Priscilla Harry, Kathryn Rainbolt, Mary Ann Sanders, Sara Jane Kerr, Betty Mason, Elizabeth Harth.
 Member not present: Everyl Snelson.

Delta award . . . Helen Hibbard was recognized for scholarship and Bette Barber for the best all-round pledge by Phi Mu . . . the Harry twins followed in big sister Priscilla's steps . . . and were honored by Kappa Delta for their grades . . . while Barbee Ann Watts was named the most outstanding pledge . . . Chi Omega presented a bracelet to Margie Tallman for top scholarship . . . while the pledge cup went to Marjorie Ousterhout as the most outstanding pledge . . . Mrs. Eugene Kingman succeeded in holding the attention of the group . . . supreme achievement . . . speaking on "Anthropology and Fashion" . . . Sanders moved at the next meeting . . . that if the banquet is given in the same place again next year . . . woodpeckers be imported to make holes in the posts so that visibility would be improved . . . which gives you some idea of the Pan-Hellenic meetings.

Typical meeting . . . Mary Ann Sanders . . . "Let me look that up in my minutes." . . . "Oh, it must be in the other book." . . . Helen Alldredge . . . "I don't know exactly how much money we have, but I'm sure there is enough." . . . Elizabeth Harth . . . "I want to bring up something." . . . Betty Mason . . . "We'll be sure to look into that and report on it next meeting. Any volunteers?" . . . Everyl Snelson . . . "Let's settle down and get this finished." . . . Miss Williams . . . "Have you looked at all the angles?" . . . Kathryn Rainbolt . . . "Move we adjourn." . . . Sally Kerr . . . "I second the motion."

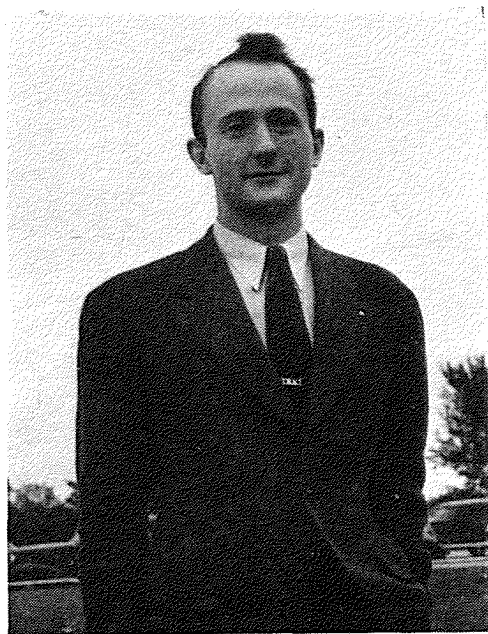

Officers rotate annually . . . so that each sorority holds a different office each year . . . completing the cycle every four years . . . since the sorority presidents are automatically council members . . . and very, very busy . . . the Council this year voted . . . to put the other representative for the sorority into the office . . . instead of the president . . . it's a wonder someone didn't think of that before.

Creed of the local Council is identical with that of the National Pan-Hellenic congress . . . "We, the fraternity undergraduate members, stand for good scholarship, for the guarding of good health, for whole hearted maintenance of fine social standards, and the serving, to the best of our ability, of our college community . . . good college citizenship as a preparation for good citizenship in the large world of alumnae days is the ideal that shall guide our chapter activities." . . . It is considered beneath the standards of fraternity women to speak disparagingly of any fraternity of college women; to create any feeling between fraternity or non-fraternity women; or to allow an account of minor social functions to appear in the public press . . . the local chapter, in an attempt to live up to these ideals . . . promotes cooperation among Greeks and Greek groups and non-sorority members.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

President . . . . . JOE MITCHELL
Vice-President . . . . . DICK WHITESIDE
Secretary . . . . . RAYMOND OUSTERHOUT
Treasurer . . . . . F. C. HENSLEY
Sponsor . . . . . H. D. CHASE

Joe Mitchell, president, trades his gavel for a uniform.

The purpose of this group . . . as might be gathered from the name . . . is to unite the fraternities . . . for the common good . . . and to direct the activities of all the fraternities toward greater service to the University . . . organization takes on an added importance in war time . . . since all organizations . . . or almost all organizations agree . . . that cooperation is more essential now . . . than ever before.

Dean H. D. Chase . . . who organized this group back in 1937 . . . is admittedly the force that makes the wheels go 'round . . . all meetings are held in his office . . . he believes that combines are bad . . . and heavily endorses movements to disband rigid political affiliations . . . is absolutely fair and impartial in his judgments . . . and procures a more unbiased attitude on the part of other members of the council.

Bi-monthly meetings . . . are regularly scheduled . . . and often digress into glorified bull-sessions . . . after business is transacted . . . more is accomplished . . . it is generally agreed . . . in said bull-sessions . . . than in regular meetings . . . attendance is occasionally low . . . at meetings . . . since Ousterhout occasionally proves a little absent-minded . . . when he starts notifying the members of meetings.

Organization is an outgrowth . . . of an informal group of representatives from the campus fraternities . . . is now composed of three members of each fraternity . . . usually, the president and two special representatives. . . offices rotate annually among the groups . . . according to pre-determined schedule.

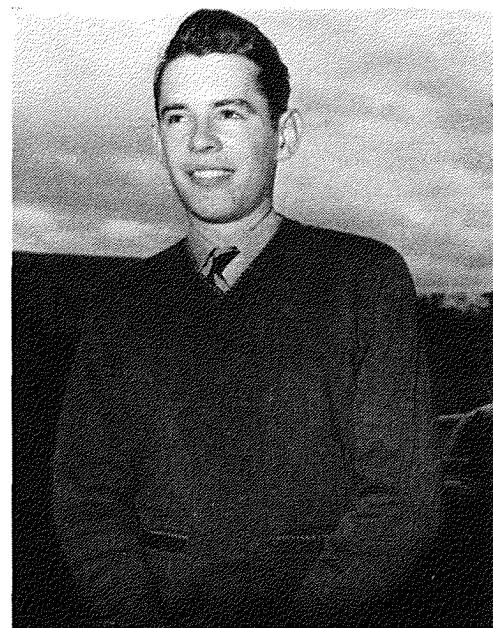

Council sponsors the annual Inter-fraternity Ball . . . this year held in the early spring . . . closely akin to the Pan-Hellenic dance . . . everything is strictly formal . . . girls scheme to get new formals . . . elaborate programs . . . smooth floor . . . good band . . . all help to make the fifth inter-frat dance . . . the best ever.

Definite goal is the preservation of good relationship between greek and independent groups . . . coordination works very well . . . absence of greek vs. barb haggling largely due to the efforts of this council . . . and that spirit is carefully nourished by the administration . . . since it is almost non-existent on the average college campus.

Promotion of inter-fraternity goodwill was the motive for the proposed "Greek Week" . . . idea receives hearty support of most of the fraternities . . . Rickman says . . . surprised . . . that there are some good guys in the other fraternities . . . and devotes a little time to this new project of getting acquainted . . . idea falls through because of lack of co-operation . . . but plans are made to carry it over until next year.

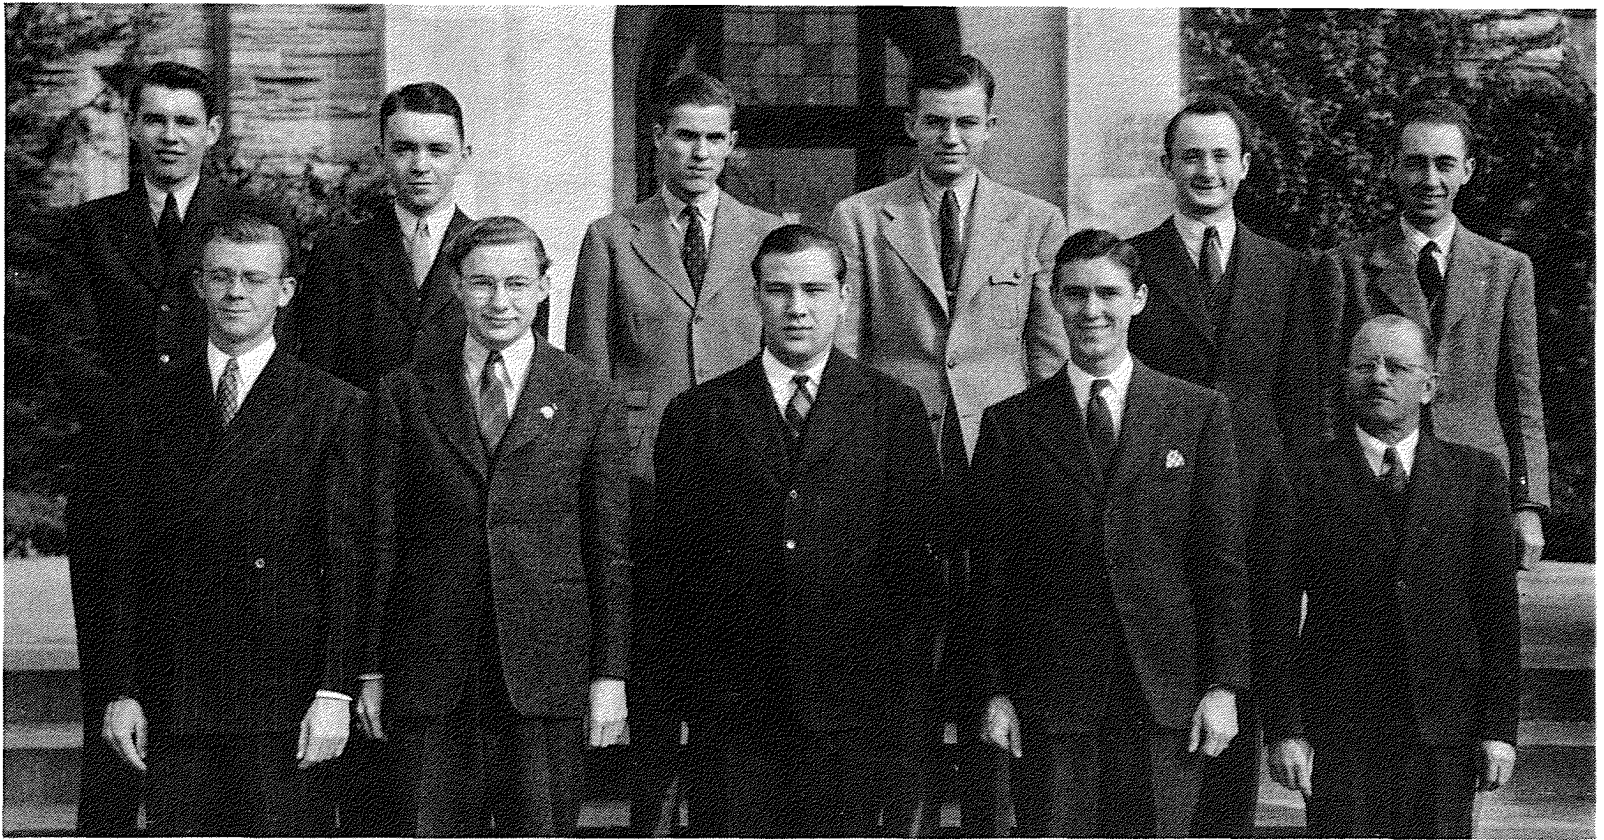

Lowering of grade standards for fraternity membership considered . . . Mills, Ousterhout and Rickman say no . . . prexy Joe Mitchell forsakes the Engine building for ordnance service . . . "Pup" Born does the honors as president . . . Scott graduates at mid-term . . . the last of the camp-fire boys . . . foiled again . . . Jay Thompson having that far-away look . . . and graduating in March . . . after leaving an engagement ring with Martha . . . members complaining that his mind wasn't on inter-frat business . . . true.

Raymond Ousterhout, Secretary, files the records.

ADVERTISING & ?????

We are beginning in this, the 1942 Kendallabrum, a semblance of a humor section, a thing unknown to Kendallabrum readers of the past few years. This section is inserted in an attempt to make a fresh start toward building an interesting ad section for the University of Tulsa annual. Every picture you find interspersed between the advertisements in this section has been approved by the faculty censor board, the Student Council, Mr. Umpleby, the Collegian, our advertisers, and even T. N. E.!!!

We realize that it is a difficult task to please the faculty, the student body, and everyone else at the same time. However, we submit this rejuvenated section in the hope that it will meet with your approval.

Welcome to The University of Tulsa Graduates of 1942

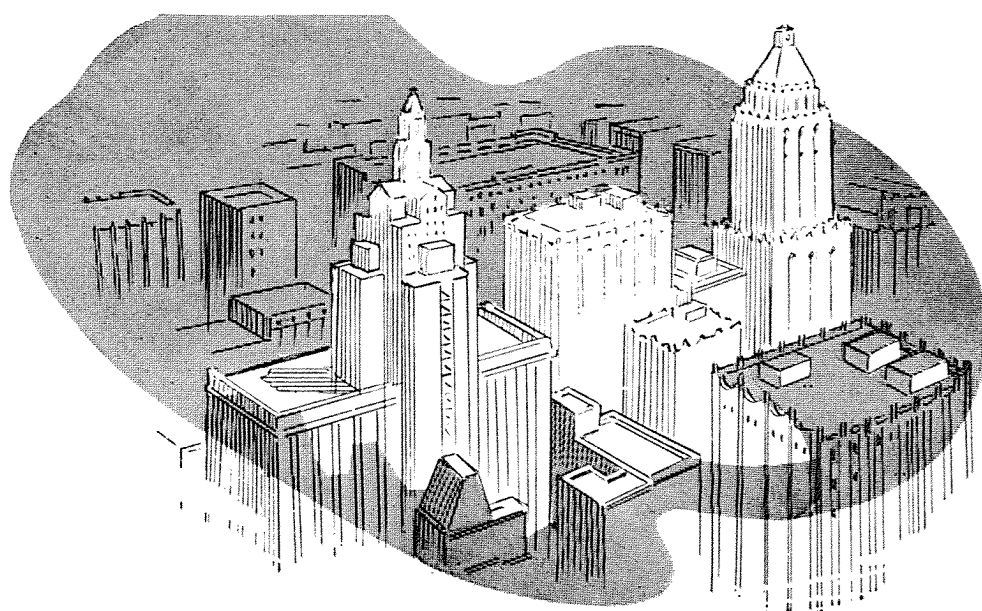

You are entering upon full time participation in the affairs of your country at a time when there is need for every trained mind and for every special skill.

Whether you go into the military or other public service of your country or into her offices, fields, factories or homes, America needs, as never before, the fresh young strength and spirit of every one of you.

The Tulsa newspapers join all America in welcoming you to your responsibilities as full time workers in the struggle to maintain the way of life that fosters such institutions as The University of Tulsa.

These newspapers dedicate themselves anew to their responsibility for publishing the news each day, completely, accurately and quickly . . . in order that you may be fully informed during these critical times.

Gentlemen:

Now that our work is done and we are waiting to receive the 1942 Kendallabrum, we want to take this means of thanking you and your personnel for the excellent and helpful service you gave us in producing our yearbook.

Even though we were not sure in the beginning, we know now that, with Southwestern's expert guidance, even the most inexperienced editor and manager can publish a fine yearbook. And, if other yearbook staffs want to have the assistance of a truly competent organization, we heartily recommend you to them.

Furthermore, the style and quality of the book this year is evidence of what you told us last fall -- "it is a continued advancement."

Very truly yours,
